

LEAD BEARING CASES ON TRIAL

Hearing to Determine if Copper Matte Containing Lead Is Dutiable.

Whether lead contained in copper matte shall be allowed to enter this country duty free will be settled in the near future as the result of an investigation now being made in El Paso. The investigation began Wednesday morning, when S. B. Cooper, of the general board of customs appraisers, began taking testimony in the case of the American Smelting and Refining company vs. the United States. Many of the officials of the local smelter have been summoned and it is expected that the investigation will continue through the remainder of the week.

Decision Favorable to Smelter.
The case is the result of action taken by collector of customs Zach Lamar Cobb. In November, 1914, the court of customs appeals rendered a decision in favor of the smeltering and refining company whereby lead in copper matte entered duty free. Following this decision, the case has again been reopened through the attempted collection of duties at this port.

Should the smelting company win the present case it will result, it is declared, in a great advantage to smelters in this country having facilities in foreign countries for reducing ore to the form of matte as against those not having such facilities. The duty on lead is 3 cent per pound and copper matte has been known to contain as high as 15 percent lead, according to government figures.

The case for the government will be conducted by assistant United States district attorney Bert Hanson, assisted by Mr. Cobb. The hearings will be held in Mr. Cobb's office. Mining men generally are taking a keen interest in the case.

VILLA WANTS TRAINS INTO UNION STATION

No action relative to placing avenues at the union station platform was taken Tuesday afternoon by the board of directors of the Union Station company at the annual meeting. The directors also failed to take action relative to the mail contract, which will not be awarded for 30 days. An application was received from the Constitutionalist railways asking that the old rights of entry to the union station enjoyed by the National railways, which were taken over by the Constitutionalist railways, be revived. Action on this request was deferred.

But one change was made in the officials of the company. This was in the presidency. F. C. Fox, being named president in place of J. W. Keverman.

1198 SIGNATURES TO JITNE PROTEST

Nearly 1200 signatures have already been secured to petitions circulated by members of the Independent Nickel Auto Operators association, requesting the city council to eliminate from the jitne ordinance the provisions regarding the posting of bonds and the designation of specified routes.

Besides the modifications of the ordinance that are asked in the petition it is stated that action will be taken by attorneys of the operators to defeat the provision requiring a five cent fare to any point in the city limits.

It is expected that the petitions will all be in this evening and will be presented to the city council Thursday.

MR. McNARY BREAKS TIME RECORD TO ALAMOGORDO

James Graham McNary broke the automobile time record Saturday last on a trip between El Paso and Alamogordo, when he covered the 160 miles in three hours and 40 minutes. Mr. McNary was accompanied in his automobile by W. E. Easton, of El Paso. From Alamogordo to Mountain Park, another 14 miles, he made the trip in 45 minutes. Mr. McNary will leave his car at the hill-top for the summer so that he can go from El Paso here in the winter to see the Golden State limited and not have to depend upon the Cloudcroft train, according to the arrangement at El Paso. He left his car at Alamogordo, and next Saturday afternoon he will take it back to Mountain Park, returning again to Alamogordo in it Sunday afternoon.

Mr. McNary says the roads are very fine between here and Alamogordo, a little dusty, but not rough or heavy anywhere. A light rain would put them in splendid shape, he says.

WILL ADVERTISE THE SOUTHWEST

El Paso Adclub to Make Its Campaign on Broad Lines.

Urged by president elect W. E. Mix and Halcón Fraser, the new secretary of the chamber of commerce, to forget all petty, local spirit and work for the El Paso southwest from which El Paso draws its bulk of business, the Adclub has decided to make its campaign of advertising and publicity at the Chicago convention of Adclubs include all of the trade territory surrounding El Paso.

"The greatest good to El Paso will be the greatest good to the southwest," said Mr. Mix. "El Paso is, and always must be, the metropolis of the southwest. Because this is true, no city need fear that El Paso is trying to take something away from it nor need El Paso to fear that some other city will try to get something from her. The advertising we are doing must be done unselfishly for the southwest."

Secretary Fraser also urged cooperation with all of the cities of the southwest and that, where other cities had advantages over El Paso, to give way to those cities because the building up of those cities and districts meant the building up of El Paso.

"Los Angeles is the leader in a spirit of selfishness," said Mr. Fraser. "Los Angeles fights San Diego and San Francisco, while El Paso, in the past, has fought Phoenix and Tucson in a smaller way. Instead, we should all be working together. Let each city defer to the others which have greater advantages, for we are all working together for the same end—the building up of our great section."

M. P. Carlock explained the plans for advertising the El Paso southwest at the Chicago convention. He said they would take 200 pennants, a big banner announcing El Paso's candidacy for the 1918 meeting, felt hats and other advertising novelties. He exhibited the hats, banners and the large banner. Small Mexican hats are also to be taken. The El Paso delegation will leave here on June 16 and will join the Texas Ad clubs.

W. J. Moran and George H. Clements made short talks. Both Mr. Clements and secretary Fraser were elected honorary members of the club. George H. Wallace was also elected to membership in the club by a unanimous vote.

H. B. Orndorff, president of the chamber of commerce, was urged to have secretary Fraser and Mr. Clements go to Chicago with the party. Mr. Orndorff said it would be impossible for Mr. Fraser to get away at this time and that a committee should see the advertising committee of the chamber of commerce relative to sending Mr. Clements. This committee was appointed by president B. E. Sherman and is composed of W. E. Mix, A. H. Howlands, R. B. Orndorff and Claiborne Adams. A roundtable discussion of advertising questions followed.

RANGER GOODWIN TESTIFIES; GUADERRAMA JURY SECURED

O. W. (Doc) Goodwin, a state's witness, was on the stand all of Wednesday morning in the trial of Juan, David and Jesus Guaderrama, charged with the murder two years ago of deputy sheriff W. H. Garlick and state ranger Scott Russell.

The case went to trial in the 14th district court Wednesday morning, the jury panel having been completed Tuesday evening, after the special venire of 400 men and the regular weekly venire had been exhausted and another special venire of 150 men had been summoned.

The jury is as follows: F. M. Miller, Robert S. Trumbull, John Moss, C. C. Beardsley, W. J. White, W. R. Smith, A. E. Chesney, Oscar Downs, J. H. Gamble, C. M. Miller, R. E. Reed and Thomas Thornton.

"I asked Juan Guaderrama about the killing, and he said he had shot Garlick because Garlick had shot at him," Goodwin testified. "I examined the walls back of where Juan stated that he had stood when Garlick shot at him, but could find no bullet hole." Cross examined, witness stated he was positive no bullet hole was made anywhere in the vicinity of where Juan said he was standing.

The witness stated that Garlick had gone to the Guaderrama place during the morning and had examined some cattle. Garlick told him, the witness stated, that Manuel Guaderrama had made threats, but that he intended to return during the afternoon to complete the inspection.

Witness said the general reputation of the Guaderrama boys was not good, on cross examination.

BURDETTE'S BODY ESCORTED TO TRAIN BY TEXAS RANGERS

Escorted to the union station by Texas rangers, deputy sheriff and other peace officers, the body of Lee Burdette, the Texas ranger who was shot and killed at Fabens Monday night, was returned to Austin Tuesday night where the funeral of the murdered ranger will be held.

No more arrests have been made following the killing of ranger Burdette by a gang of Port Hancock Mexicans who had gone to Fabens and were disturbing the peace. While searching one of the Mexicans for a pistol the others opened fire and the ranger was shot through the breast and killed instantly.

Ranger Charles Beall had a narrow escape from death as he was with Burdette at the time and was fired at more than 20 times by the Mexicans.
